

THE PITCH ROOM

hosted by Max Bratter

About Max

Max Bratter is a high school entrepreneur, nonprofit founder, and broadcaster based in South Florida. He is the founder and station manager of WBIT, one of fewer than five public radio stations in the country run entirely by a high school. Max produces live morning shows, news coverage, and now, The Pitch Room. Through NSU University School's USchool Network, he has built a track record in storytelling, interviewing, and live production that translates directly to what this show is trying to do. He also leads Task Troopers, a 501(c)(3) he built from the ground up, and competes in VEX Robotics at the national level. He started all of it before college.

Credentials

- Founder & Station Manager, WBIT, one of <5 high school-run public radio stations in the U.S.
- NATAS Student Production Award, Election Night Coverage
- STN 1st Place: Newsmagazine & Morning Show
- STN Outstanding Podcast, The Bite Morning Show
- VEX Robotics World Championship competitor, Team 4154S
- Founder & CEO, Task Troopers 501(c)(3)

The Show

The Pitch Room isn't about the highlight reel. It's about the in-between, the pivots, the rounds that almost didn't close, the products that nearly killed the company, and the moments when quitting felt like the only rational choice. Each episode, one founder or operator shares their chapter of the story. Told in the city where they created it!

The Guest

The ideal Pitch Room guest is a founder or operator in the tech space... at any stage, any size, any outcome. We're not looking for the polished post-exit interview. We want the person who can talk honestly about the moment everything almost fell apart. The Pitch Room is also looking for VC's, investors, mentors, and anyone involved in startup creating and operation!

Logistics & Contact

New York City | Houston | San Francisco | South Florida

Dates: June 20–30, 2026 (specific city dates TBD)

www.pitchroom.maxbratter.com

Get in touch | 954-947-7270 | pitchroom@maxbratter.com

Only available remote? TPR is still interested. Please, reach out!